WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—The chief American prosecutor of Axis war criminals today urged sure punishment for the guilty, and declared war against dilatory tactics in trial procedure.

The trials, said Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, must not be regarded in the same light as trials under the American system, where defense is a matter of constitutional right.

"Fair hearings for the accused are, of course, required to make sure we punish only the right men and for the right reasons," he said. "But the procedure of these hearings may properly be obstructive and dilatory tactics resorted to by dependants in our ordinary criminal trials."

Failure to try those accused, he stated, "would mock the dead and make cynics of the living."

Justice Jackson, chief of counsel of the United States in the prosecution of Axis war criminals, told President Truman in a 5,000-word report that he had assurances from the War Department that those likely to be accused as war criminals "will be kept in close confinement and stern control."

Jackson said the preparations for the prosecution of major war criminals will not impede or delay trials of other offenders guilty of lesser crimes.

He said negotiations for an international military tribunal, representing the United States, the United Kingdom, Soviet Russia and France, to try guilty Nazis have not yet been completed, but that he did not consider it wise to wait this final step before preparing the American case.

He said the American case was being prepared on the as-

YANKS GET SET FOR NEXT BLOW AT JAPAN

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Ralph Roush, residing on the S. M. Roush farm on the Leesburg road a half mile south of Staunton, knows what it is to have real neighbors, and also knows the true meaning of "a friend in need is a friend indeed."

Ralph has been greatly delayed with his farm work recently, as result of the tragedy that struck the family at the Wright Field a week ago Sunday, when a plane crashed and fatally injured his son-in-law, Wesley Roehm; his granddaughter, Donna Irene Roehm, and left his daughter and a granddaughter in a critical condition in Patterson Field Hospital.

Ralph was already far behind with his farm work when the tragedy struck and it has taken most of his time since then.

Tuesday nine of his neighbors, with a half dozen tractors, soil conditioning equipment and planters, surprised Ralph by appearing at his farm and proceeding with the work of conditioning and planting 30 acres of corn ground.

A bounteous dinner was served to the neighbors at the noon hour, and the work was completed during the afternoon, Ralph expressing his deep gratitude for the great assistance at a time when it was so badly needed.

Those who did the work for Ralph included: John Gorzatt, Eddie Graves, Reuben Pierce, Orville Bush, Everett Page, Ralph Theobald, Eugene Cockerill, Pierce Miller and Willard Fout.

I have known of many similar instances in Fayette County where neighbors have voluntarily gone to the aid of a hard-pressed neighbor, and shown that they possess big hearts and are ready to assist each other whenever necessary.

Listen kids! A few nights ago a trailer truck hauling 10 tons of watermelons went into a ditch on the Leesburg road a short distance west of the city, and blocked traffic for sometime until a couple of wreckers could extricate the big truck and get it moving once more.

Now don't have visions of 10 tons of bursted watermelons going to waste. As a matter of fact not a single melon was bursted, and the driver was able to move on with his load intact.

I know it must have been a real temptation to a large number of folks who had to wait until the wrecker could move the truck out of the way and traffic could be resumed, but anyway the whole load of melons escaped unscathed.

It seems the driver was attempting to turn about in the road at a gateway, and the rear of the truck went into the ditch and struck fast with its huge load of lusciousness.

SUGAR SHORTAGE TO BE MORE ACUTE

CLEVELAND, June 7—(AP)—If you think it's tough to get meat these days, wait till after July and then try to get sugar, says the chief of the regional Office of Price Administration.

"Widespread droughts of 1944 and manpower problems in harvesting the crop," regional OPA Administrator Birkett L. Williams declared yesterday, "presage a shortage of sugar during the last six months of 1945 that will be tighter than at any other time since the war started."

"From July of 1945 to January, 1946," he added, "the sugar problem promises to be more acute than the current meat shortage."

Williams asserted consumers of Ohio - Michigan - West Virginia - Kentucky region "will have to be content with 45 per cent of the 1945 sugar quota during the last half of the year, for they will have purchased 55 per cent of the supply by July 1."

Postwar Squabbles Among Allies Grow More Complicated

Plans for Occupation of Germany Bog Down as Reds Balk Allocation of Control Zones - London Appeals for Trust and Faith; Churchill Denies Secret Yalta Agreements; France Wants Mediation of Middle East Muddle

LONDON, June 7—(AP)—Further meetings of the Allied Control Council for Germany were being held up today by a lack of agreement on the French zone of occupation and a Moscow commentator blamed the Western Allies for the "muddle" in getting the administrative machinery in operation.

A responsible informant said there had been no definition as yet of the zone which will be under French control and that failure to reach such an agreement was the reason why the British and United States zones of occupation had not been defined. The French zone will have to be subtracted from their territory.

Correspondents representing the combined press who covered the meeting of the Control Council Tuesday said the Russians were unwilling to hold further meetings, which are necessary before the Council can begin operating, until the Americans and British have withdrawn from the Russian zone.

The Americans and British, on the other hand, wished to know their exact zones before beginning troop movements.

Peacetime Military Training Draft Opposed 'at This Time' By PT-A Head

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—The National Congress of Parents and Teachers urged today that peacetime draft legislation not be enacted "at this time."

Mrs. William A. Hastings, Madison, Wis., president of the organization claiming a membership of 3,500,000 persons, told the House Postwar Military Policy Committee that PT-A's stand was determined after full discussion with the members.

She insisted national preparedness is composed of many elements, including "education, skills, and physical fitness" that cannot be acquired "in a short

Six Are Nabbed By FBI For Taking War Secrets

Sextet Accused of Espionage Includes Navy Officer, Two State Department Officials and Three New Yorkers; Use Made of Stolen Documents Not Revealed

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—The government today accused a Navy officer, two state department officials and three New Yorkers of prying into wartime secrets.

Taken into custody by FBI agents in New York and Washington late yesterday, the six were charged with conspiring to violate a section of the espionage statute covering unauthorized possession or transmittal of national defense data.

The FBI said documents, ranging from "restricted" to "top secret" were stolen from the state, war and navy departments, the highly secret office of strategic services, the Office of War Information and the Federal Communications Commission. FCC records enemy broadcasts.

Under arrest here are: Lt. Andrew Roth, 26, of Arlington, Va., who served for a time in the Office of Naval Intelligence. A reserve officer, he is not presently on active duty.

Emmanuel Sigurd Larsen, 47, of Washington, specialist in the China division of the state department's Office of Far Eastern Affairs.

John Stewart Service, 35, of Washington, a foreign service officer of the state department who until recently had an assignment with American military forces in China.

Held in New York are: Philip Jacob Jaffe, 48, Russian-born editor of the magazine "Amerasia," a fortnightly review of American and Asiatic affairs. Jaffe was naturalized in 1923.

Kate Louise Mitchell, 36, co-editor of "Amerasia" and the author of a number of books, including "Industrialization of the Western Pacific" and "Japan's Industrial Strength."

Mark Julius Gayn, born Mark Julius Ginsburg, 37, a free-lance magazine writer, who was planning, the FBI said, to go to Russia, India and China as a newspaper correspondent. A native of Manchuria, he was naturalized in 1943.

In New York where the three held there were arraigned last night, U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey said Gayn was "apparently trying to flee the country" when taken into custody.

Each was released under $10,000 bail each, and their cases adjourned until June 30.

Roth, Larsen and Service were arraigned in Washington before a U. S. commissioner who fixed the same bail and adjourned their cases to June 14.

Conviction on the charge carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The FBI said its investigation, begun at the request of the state and navy departments, "disclosed that data removed from the government's confidential files usually was turned over to Jaffe at meetings in Washington and New York."

Some of this information, the FBI said, was printed in Amerasia Magazine.

could be mobilized quickly in case of another war "within the next few years."

Speaking for the Federal Council of Churches, Dr. Herbert J. Burghalter, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, told the committee the organization represented 25 denominations with 25,000,000 members.

"The people for whom I speak and the churches with which they are identified hold to the view that our nation should not at this time take any action which would reverse our historic policy with respect to compulsory military training."

"The responsibility for this training, rests with our schools, and our recreational centers," she asserted.

"If a reasonably sized standing army, along with a strong National Guard Force, is ready for an immediate emergency, then our youth, in good physical condition, skilled, and alert in mind, can soon be prepared for any part they must play."

Talk of peacetime conscription now, Mrs. Hastings said, is "inopportune" because millions of men now in the armed forces or "preparing themselves for war"

LANGFORD'S ACCOUNT BOOK MAY YIELD CLUE TO MURDER

Miss Evelyn Nesbitt Mrs. E. M. Langford

NEW YORK, June 7—A meticulously-kept household account book was under close examination by police today in the hope it might divulge clues leading to the solution of the two-day-old slaying of Albert Langford, 63, wealthy textile executive.

The expensive blue ledger, police said, carefully detailed over a long period of time a large amount of payments made by Langford's 70-year-old wife to a number of individuals and organizations including one payment of $15,000 to a person whose identity was not revealed.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet said there was nothing to indicate the purposes for which the money was paid or any record of repayment.

Among those from whom baffled police have sought assistance in their investigation is Miss Evelyn Nesbitt, an acquaintance. Miss Nesbitt, a beautiful showgirl in her youth, was the wife of millionaire Harry K. Thaw when he shot and killed William Stanford White in 1906.

HOUSE APPROVAL FOR BRETTON WOODS

WASHINGTON, June 7—(AP)—The Bretton Woods world monetary agreements were approved overwhelmingly by the House today.

The ratification legislation now goes to the Senate, where the opposition predicted a vigorous battle.

Two presidents have described the agreements as laying the economic foundation for lasting peace. The opposition, in two days of House debate, described the monetary plan as "a swindle and a fraud" and as an international WPA.

The United States is the first of the united nations to act on the agreements.

SPAIN WILL GIVE UP LAVAL, PARIS REPORTS

LONDON, June 7—(AP)—Exchange Telegraph published a Paris dispatch asserting that Generalissimo Franco had agreed to the extradition of Pierre Laval, chief of the former Vichy government.

The report said a French plane was en route to Spain to get Laval, who fled from Germany to Barcelona in the closing days of the war.

CHAPLIN DENIED TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, June 7—(AP)—Cine-dan Charlie Chaplin reportedly declared by a jury to be the father of Joan Berry's baby. Carol Ann, has been denied a new trial of the young woman's paternity suit.

Reprieve By President Saves Kentucky Kidnaper

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 7—(AP)—Unmoved by an eleventh hour presidential reprieve from the electric chair, kidnaper Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., found himself today right back where he was nine years ago—headed for a life term in the federal penitentiary.

President Harry S. Truman yesterday commuted Robinson's death sentence to life imprisonment in Alcatraz. The White House intervention came less than 48 hours before the 37-year-old former law student was scheduled to die in the electric chair.

His crime was the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, wealthy Louisville society matron, in 1934 and holding her at Indianapolis for $50,000 ransom. The sentence, pronounced in federal court here, later was affirmed by the United States Supreme Court.

Acting as his own attorney, Robinson unexpectedly sought his release two years ago and eventually won a jury trial on the ground he was not represented properly by counsel at the time he pleaded guilty. He was convicted here and sentenced to death.

Justice department said in Washington yesterday that President Truman acted on the recommendation of Attorney General Biddle, whose reasons for the action were contained in a letter. The reasons were undisclosed.

OKINAWA BATTLE NEARING CLIMAX, OSAKA BLASTED

Military Experts Foresee Invasion of Japan or China in Near Future

By LEONARD MILLMAN

By the Associated Press

End of the Okinawa campaign against 15,000 narcotics-stimulated Japanese in less than a week was foreseen today by Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the Third Marine Amphibious Corps as 450 Superforts bombed and burned Osaka, Japan's greatest military production center.

The impending conquest of Okinawa will wind up, military observers believe, the long, arduous "island hopping" that started with the invasion of Guadalcanal in 1942.

The next American move in the Pacific, in the opinion of these experts, will be the payoff.

Plenty of Bases

With the Philippines, the Marianas, Okinawa and Iwo Jima, they say, American forces now have ample bases from which they can mount a major thrust against either China or the Japanese home islands.

On one hand, the Japanese talk of an imminent invasion of the home islands. On the other, they appear to be shifting part of their forces from South China to mainland areas closer to Japan, apparently getting braced for a showdown in the north. Sizeable forces, however, still hold the important ports of Hong Kong and Swatow and Haiphong in French Indo-China.

Any landing in China presumably would be made somewhere in the Hong Kong area, since that is the sector from which the Chinese army could be supplied most easily.

National Jap Suicide

The army has called on the Japanese people to commit national hari kari in defense of the empire against American invaders, radio Tokyo reported today.

In a 20-page "People's Handbook for Resistance Combat," the army exhorted the "100,000,000 people" of the home islands to "become special (suicide) attackers," in the event of American landings, "thus defending the empire to the last," a broadcast quoting Domei news agency said.

Newly seized Naha harbor and airfield, the finest on the southern approaches to Japan, were being rushed into shape for the next major American invasion—possibly the enemy's home islands or the China coast—even as details of this move were being plotted by ranking generals in Manila.

China Forces Cleared

Chinese forces cleared a growing stretch of the China coast 450 miles west of Okinawa by chasing retreating Japanese into Fusing, 105 miles north of the Chinese-held port of Foochow.

British and Indian troops battered down increasing Japanese resistance in their mop up of Burma, while Yanks made two new amphibious landings in the southern Philippines to speed the end of the Mindanao Island campaign.

Today's three-hour raid on Osaka was the tenth such powerful strike at major Japanese industrial cities within a month and the second on Osaka, the nation's most important industrial producer, within a month.

Blasting Bombs Used

High explosive bombs centered on the Osaka Arsenal sent Japanese scurrying to air raid shelters before other fire-bombing B-29s started new blazes burning in the industrial section where more than 11 square miles were blackened in previous strikes. A Japanese communique said that blazes started in the daylight attack were

THE WAR TODAY

—By DEWITT MACKENZIE—

One of the questions most often asked me by readers of this column, as the Allies close in on Japan, is whether Russia is going to join in its crushing the brigands of the Pacific.

That's not an easy query to answer in view of the fact that there has been no official pronouncement for guidance, either from Moscow or the other Allied capitals. Marshal Stalin as usual has been exemplifying his nickname of "The Sphinx" by playing his cards close to his chest. For this reason any guess as to whether the Soviet Union will make war on Japan must be based on two things—logic and significant trends.

On both counts, as I see it, the probabilities are that the Muscovites will come into the war.

When? Well, the bulk of their fighting strength in all categories is in European Russia. We must allow time for the shifting of much of this strength to far-off Siberia—a titanic undertaking. It might be several months before Moscow felt sufficiently well set—perhaps late summer or autumn.

That's the way things stand now, but right here we should take cognizance of this fact: a trend is like a new-born river; if it encounters a major obstacle it is diverted from its course. That is to say, there's no guarantee that the present picture won't change, although there is no sign of any shift at this writing.

The first item to substantiate my belief that Russia will fight Japan is one of logic. Looking at the thing purely from the standpoint of self-interest, it's to the advantage of the Soviet Union (or so it strikes me) not only to see Nippon knocked out but to have a hand in the job.

Japan's whole grandiose war-scheme of establishing a new order in East Asia under her domination is a direct challenge to every Russian interest in the Orient—territorial, political and economic. And this program is the culmination of a long series of aggressive acts against Russia, dating back to the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5.

As a result of her defeat in that war Russia had to cede to the Japanese her rights to the strategic naval base of Port Arthur, and important interests in Manchuria. The Japs also got half of the big island of Sakhalin. Tokyo annexed Korea, and extended her hold on Manchuria until finally in 1931 she took over that great country outright.

Then came a steady procession of Japanese threats against Russian Siberia. Finally the Japs overran part of China and then, when Russia and the Western Allies were heavily involved in a life-or-death war with Germany, the Mikado's war-lords launched their assault on America and the other United Nations with the object of overrunning all East Asia.

Of the recent trends, the one which seems to me to be most conclusive is Japan's own attitude of fear that Russia is about to declare war. We see this exhibited in the way Nippon is reported rushing troops from Southern China northward toward the Soviet border. This is accompanied by a naive and very expressive chatter by Tokyo spokesmen about what great pals Japan and Russia are.

Another significant trend was Moscow's denunciation of the Soviet-Japanese neutrality pact on April 5 of this year. In making this move Russia pointed out that "Japan is fighting against U. S. A. and Great Britain, which are the Allies of the Soviet Union," and that the pact thus "has lost its meaning and the continuance of

FLOWER MISSION AT CHILDREN'S HOME PLANNED

Six WCTU's in County Prepare Program To Be Given Sunday Afternoon

The six WCTU units in Fayette County are completing their plans now for their annual flower mission, scheduled for Sunday at 2:30 P. M. at the children's home.

The public is invited, Mrs. Frank Haines said Wednesday. David Whiteside, superintendent of the home on the Bloomingburg Road, echoed Mrs. Haines in urging everyone to come to the home.

A tradition of the WCTU, the flower mission is planned yearly on the Sunday closest to June 9. The six WCTU's—from Washington C. H., Good Hope, Sugar Grove, Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg and New Martinsburg—are planning a program to be presented at the home.

Mrs. John Van Gundy, president of the county WCTU, will begin the program with devotionals. After a talk to the children, each separate WCTU will give two numbers—musical performances or readings. The children also are planning a part of the program.

And, also according to tradition, the WCTU ladies will bring with them an ice cream or cake treat for the children.

Heat Record This June? The DP&L Set One Here!

When the city heat was turned on at 6 P. M. Monday, most of the 210 Washington C. H. residents that use it were too glad to get warm again to know or care that the Dayton Power and Light Co. set a record.

June 4 is the latest date city heat has been turned on in its more than two decades of service in Washington C. H.

June 3, 1940, came close, but that cold snap didn't last very long. A. E. Weatherly manager of the Dayton Power and Light Co. here, explained. And then in 1934, the city heat system had to be turned on on June 1. But Monday's heating has the record so far.

It set another sort of record, too. The boiler used to generate the steam had to be repaired and repaired fast. Workmen began at 11 A. M. and had everything ready at 6 P. M.

Ordinarily, it takes only four or five hours to set the city heat machinery in motion, Weatherly said. He explained the boiler repair was temporary but would keep things rolling until the cold weather lets up and later three or four weeks can be devoted to fixing things up in the middle of summer.

The prescribed dates for the beginning and end of city heat and September 15 and May 15. This year, the system continued to operate until May 28, Weatherly said. There have been cases where it was necessary to turn

SGT. ERNEST HALL DIES ON OKINAWA

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall Killed April 25

Sgt. Ernest Hall, 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, 623 Van Deman Avenue, was killed in action on Okinawa April 25, a War Department telegram informed his mother.

Little more than that information was included in the brief message but the adjutant general assured Mrs. Hall a letter with more details would follow.

Sgt. Hall had been overseas three years and in the service since September 23, 1942. He was wounded June 6, 1944, with shrapnel in his shoulder, back and head.

He attended Sedalia Schools and was a farmer before he entered the service.

One of his five brothers is in the service. Lloyd Franklin Hall, S 2-c is in the South Pacific. The other brothers, Melvin, Robert, Monty and William Jr., all are at home. Four sisters, Doris, Patricia, Barbara and Linda Lou also are at home.

Sgt. Hall's last letter home was written April 18. In it he wrote amusingly of a dugout falling in on him and some of his buddies.

DISORDERLY QUARTET DISPOSED OF HERE

The cases of four people, two men and two women who were arrested following a fight at "Coney Island" Monday evening and fined and given workhouse sentences, have been disposed of by Judge R. H. Sites.

Beatrice French, Columbus, was ordered out of the city and left accordingly. She was notified that return here would mean enforcement of a $50 fine and 12 months workhouse sentence.

Mrs. Anna Lewis, Elwood French and Howard French were released when their fines were paid, and the workhouse sentences will be evoked if they face the court again, they were informed.

ANOTHER RELEASED Virginia Anschutz, one of three persons arrested in connection with an assault in front of the Loudner Barbecue, at an early hour Sunday, has been released on bond pending her hearing in Justice George Worrell's Court. The other two were released previously.

Immortals

It was a sobering moment when, on May 31, announcement was made that the casualties in this war had risen to more than a million men, of whom more than 227,000 were dead. The term "casualties" includes the killed, the wounded, the missing and the prisoners. These numbers continue to grow, and will do so while the war lasts—and longer. The final sum of those who have given their lives or services for their country—or will yet give them—is beyond reckoning.

It seems as if a figure like the one quoted above deserves commemoration in itself, as do the men who compose it. So many American patriots, at such and such times, have been playing their manly part in the great, tragic drama which preserves the nation and secures its future. Not only is it proper to make sure "that these honored dead shall not have died in vain," as Lincoln phrased it; but it is right that they and the memory of their services should be so engraved in the nation's heart that they will never be forgotten.

Liberation

Observers of the Chinese situation lately don't seem quite sure whether the Chinese are growing stronger, or the Japanese are growing weaker. In such a case there may be a logical assumption that it is a little of both. The Chinese, helped increasingly by American food, supplies and ammunition, are recovering their confidence and energy and becoming a real asset to the Allied cause as well as to themselves. Thus the Far-Eastern war is "paying off" as well as brightening the future in that vast area. The news of changes in the political and military lineup of leaders is also reassuring.

Commenting on the great improvement in that long-blighted region, the New York Times cheerfully observes that military victories today cannot be measured merely by military yardsticks, but are also "matters of the spirit." It is obvious that, after a long and dolorous time, when millions of crushed men in so many lands awaited their liberation in doubt and fear, the right is triumphing and there is reasonable hope for a free world.

It will be the duty and the glory of enlightened men in many lands to take up and carry on this new torch of global liberation.

Dream Cars

It has been estimated that some 200,000 new automobiles may roll off the production lines before the end of the year. The average citizen, weary of years of struggle with worn-out parts, repair bills and crowded public transportation, grins as he counts the months. But, alas, it isn't so simple.

Those 200,000 cars would be barely enough, according to authorities, to "sample" the more than 30,000 automobile dealers in the country. What is more, there are so many priority orders already piled up or expected from doctors, offi-

Hints on Etiquette

If you are invited to a dinner party and there is a good deal of doubt that you can attend, better decline the invitation. It is not fair to keep a hostess guessing.

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday anniversary, you are moody and lose heart easily when things don't turn out favorably for you. You are sincere in your efforts, are a loyal friend, and your affections run very deep. Appreciate congenial companionship that may be offered spontaneously today because of the friendly Mercury rays. Among life's greatest joys is the brightness that comes from mutual liking.

One-Minute Test Answers

Grand Old Man

The world's grand old man is Jan Smuts, the South African premier, who has just celebrated his 75th birthday.

At the beginning of the century he was commander-in-chief of the Boer forces in their war against Great Britain. When the British gave his country self-government within the empire, he settled down as a loyal British subject. In the last war he was a member of the British Imperial War Cabinet, and helped frame the Treaty of Versailles. After President Wilson he was the most influential worker for the League of Nations.

Premier off and on for many years in South Africa, he was out of office when the war broke. When many of his fellow-Dutchmen, who still bore a grudge against England, wanted to be neutral or pro-German, Smuts spoke out for a declaration of war, and ever since has been a pillar of strength on the Allied side.

Few men have lived as full or useful a life as Jan Smuts.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—When President Truman appointed lanky, young Texan Tom C. Clark attorney general, he was putting another fellow "on the spot."

It seems to be a game President Truman enjoys; perhaps because the tragic circumstances that elevated him to the Presidency put him very much on the spot.

The reason, however, that Tom Clark is there is that he has a reputation for winning every case he takes. This, of course isn't true; but his record really is remarkable. As a young lawyer he skyrocketed. As civil attorney for Dallas County, he scored practically 100 percent.

Eight years ago, he came into the government as attorney for the Department of Justice. He has since held more jobs than you could throw a gavel at, including anti-criminal division, and such complicated matters as reallocation of the Japanese living on the west coast after Pearl Harbor. His record still is 90 plus per cent and Clark is all modesty, not braggadocio, when he says simply: "Well, I never take a case unless I think I can win." Tom Clark comes from a family of lawyers, both by birth and by marriage. His father, William H. Clark, came from Mississippi but made his mark at the bar and the bank in Dallas.

Young Tom finished high school in 1917 and his father sent him to Virginia Military Institute. A year later, he was in the National Guard, and served a month as sergeant before the Armistice.

(Note: One more Army man that President, Captain Harry, of World War I, Truman has appointed to key government jobs.)

After that, Clark went to the University of Texas at Austin to pick up his law degree. It was there that he met Mary Ramsey, whose dad was Judge William F. Ramsey of Cleburne. They were married in 1924. There are two children: Mildred, who's a subde; and "Bill," who is in high school.

Aside from his record as a winning lawyer, the thing you most often hear about Tom Clark in Washington is that "he's the friendliest guy in town."

The thing that lawyers harp on is that Tom Clark is a lawyer. This isn't really a complaint against his predecessor. The point they make is that Clark is a lawyer's lawyer. That's why he's on the spot. If the lawyers knock him down, he will have plenty tough sledding.

That doesn't worry Tom Clark much. It shouldn't. His idea is it's worth taking, it can be won. That's why he's on the spot. If he comes even close to 90 percent on Department of Justice cases, he will be far ahead of those who preceded him. Observers here are asking now: "What you want to bet he won't?"

I wouldn't bet. Tom Clark has the magic legal touch, but he also has one of the toughest assignments to date. As WMC Paul V. McNutt once told me, "Where else can you make more enemies than prosecuting in the Department of Justice?"

Improper Posture Causes Back Strain

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

I HAVE often written about the importance of proper posture in children. When the posture is good, the least strain is put upon the muscles and other structures in the back. When posture is improper, one of the symptoms which may develop in adults is pain in the lower part of the back.

According to Doctor Emil Hauser of Chicago, this low back pain is the result of imbalance between the weight placed upon the structures of the spine, and the ability to support this weight. Hence, in relieving the disorder, this imbalance must be corrected.

Plaster of Paris Jacket
Doctor Hauser's treatment consists in the use of a plaster of Paris jacket which is put on when the body is bent slightly forward, and the spine is completely extended. This cast will correct the bad position of the spine. After the patient has worn the cast long enough to obtain the full benefits from it, he is advised to avoid any excessive strain from lifting, standing or sitting. He also has rest periods during the day.

Important also are corrective exercises which are found most helpful. I have outlined suggestions for such exercises, and will be glad to send these suggestions to all who write in enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Names will not be used.

Heat Application
In some special cases the application of heat, such as by means of the electrical treatment known as diathermy may be found quite useful. In 49.4 per cent of the patients cared for by Doctor Hauser, complications developed because of the imbalance in the spine. The most frequent complication was arthritis or inflammation of the joints, which occurred in one-fifth of the patients. In one-tenth there was sciatica. In about 8 out of every 100 there was scoliosis or an S-shaped bending of the spine.

In the patients studied by him about one-third were office workers, artists, musicians, students and writers who found it necessary to bend over a desk during their work. About one-seventh of the patients were sales persons, doctors and nurses. Only about 2 out of every 100 were mechanics, janitors or carpenters. On the other hand, 4 out of every 10 were women doing housework, scrubbing and washing. Those who found it necessary to stand during their work made up about one-half of the patients. Most of the patients were between 25 and 45 years of age.

When low back pain develops, it is usually necessary to give a complete examination to determine its cause. If it is found that it is due to imbalance of the spine the treatment outlined by Doctor Hauser will be found worthwhile.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. S.—Will you please tell me something about cancer and its symptoms?

Answer:—Cancer produces many symptoms, the exact ones present depending on the location of the cancer. Certain cancers may cause pain early in their course. Others do not produce pain until later. A swelling is produced by the cancer but, of course, such a swelling cannot be detected unless the cancer is on the outside of the body, such as on the skin or breast. If cancer is suspected, a physician should be consulted without delay.

*Author's Birthday Anniversary
We go through life as some tourists go through Europe—so anxious to see the next sight, the next cathedral, the next picture, the next mountain peak, that we never stop to fill our sense with the beauty of the present one. Along all our pathways sweet flowers are blossoming, if we will only stop to pluck them and smell their fragrance. In every meadow, birds are warbling, calling to their mates and soaring into the blue, if we will only stop our grumbling long enough to hear them.

*Wilbur Wilson Thoburn told the parable of the Holy Shadow to illustrate the beauty of unconscious influence. There was a saint so holy that he refused the gift of miracles. But the angels insisted. "Very well," said the saint, "I ask for this: that I may do a great deal of good without ever knowing it." So the angels arranged that every time the saint's shadow should fall where he did not see it, it should have the power to cure, disease, soothe pain and comfort sorrow. So the saint went about his daily life, with his face to the sun, diffusing virtue unconsciously. Which is true sainthood!

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

LOIS EBY AND JOHN C. FLEMING

SYNOPSIS
TERRY ARNOLD, a young Vermont newspaperman, has written a fairly successful novel. To gather material for a second book she has gone to the Argentine, her subject matter to be the wealthy playboy set of that Latin-American country.
Other characters are:
BROOKS KIMBERLY, owner of Ultimo Ventura, a race horse;
CORINNE ARTIGAS, Kimberly's fiancée, and
RAFF CORDOBA, architect and friend of Kimberly.

YESTERDAY: Terry decides that the South American idea of marriage is "separate care" type of marriage which she and Fitz Turner had planned. She also gets a good look at a $20,000 China bull.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

TERRY STEPPED into the stable and stared at it with startled eyes. Unconsciously she had been thinking of her uncle's stable in Vermont—old, smelling of musty hay, cattle and old leather, eerie with the slanting rays of a lantern.

This was something different. A compartment clean enough to live in, with spotless paint on walls and ceiling, and shining scrubbed floor. Electric lights had been shaded to soften their rays. Sandy, the mayordomo, a stranger who must be MacDougal, the veterinarian, and three grooms, were working over the huge animal. Terry slipped into the circle. They nodded to her absently and went on with their work of keeping the heaving animal covered with electric pads and blankets.

China was a magnificent beast. Terry could see the noble lines of the head, even though his mouth was open in a labored effort to breathe and his eyes were feverish and bloodshot.

"What's wrong with it?" Terry asked.

"Pneumonia," Sandy told her dryly.

"Don't you think we could give him another shot of the sulfa?" MacDougal looked up at them.

The mayordomo looked at China, considering, then turned to Terry. "Dinner's over up at the house, is it?"

"Yes," Terry said.

"Brooks told me to call the house if there was anything—"

Terry smothered an impulsive grin. She had been about to offer to go for Brooks. Of course, this stable would have a telephone system connected with the house. Undoubtedly China himself was in the habit of calling the kitchen for his tea!

MacDougal said quietly, "You should call him, I believe."

Sandy was starting toward the door leading to the center corridor of the stables when a striding step sounded outside.

"Wait a bit!" MacDougal called.

Sandy turned, then relaxed, as Brooks appeared in the doorway. He came over and dropped to one knee beside the bull, examined its eyes, listened to its breathing.

"He's worse," he said shortly.

"Yes," Sandy came back. "Temperature's up a degree. And he's losing strength fast."

"What about the sulfa?"

The three of them discussed it, decided on another injection. Terry watched the process, fascinated. Never was there any more efficiency and tension in a human sick chamber.

China heaved suddenly and turned over, scattering hot pads and blankets. Sandy thrust the injector he was sterilizing into Terry's hands and rushed to help recover the beast.

When the excitement was over it was Brooks who came for the instrument. He noticed Terry for the first time.

"What are you doing down here?" He smiled at her vaguely as he sterilized the needle and went back.

For a while after the injection they watched the bull's tossing head in tense silence. After a while Sandy mumbled, "I'm athinkin' we did that in good time, Brooks."

MacDougal nodded. "It looks to me like he's gettin' near the crisis."

Terry mused. "If they only had oxygen tents for bulls!"

Brooks said shortly, "They're flying one out now from Buenos Aires."

Terry gave him a quick look. He wasn't smiling. None of the others were either. But of course, she chided herself, they would have oxygen tanks for bulls! She was just an old-fashioned city girl.

Time went on. Terry forgot she had dropped in for a peek at an expensive animal. She was as engrossed as the others now in the fatal drama of China's hoarse breathing. Unconsciously she was urging the animal on in its heart-breaking efforts for each breath.

She was taking her turn with the others in pulling back the blankets, adjusting the hot pads when the animal tossed.

The crisis was almost on them now. The tense men agreed on it with silent nods. Grooms rushed about on emergency errands, bringing oil for the beast's tongue, bringing ice packs, more hot pads, more blankets. Brooks, Sandy and MacDougal were working over the animal with every skill they knew.

It was at this crucial minute that the outside door opened. Faint music from the mansion drifted in like the memory of another world. Terry glanced up, and caught her breath.

Corinne was in the doorway, fragile and exquisite in her black sequined gown, her voice frosty. "So you came down to the stables!"

Brooks walked over to shut the door behind her. "China's bad. Can't have any cold air right now." He turned again and went back to take his position beside the tossing head of the beast.

Corinne caught her breath. Terry saw the flash of fire in the velvet black depths of her eyes. She crossed to Brooks and murmured, "I work for weeks to get those three men down here to talk to you. And you leave in the middle of their questions. You walk out without a word, to stay with a bull! Aren't you interested in your political career?"

Brooks said tensely, not taking his eyes from the bull. "I can't neglect my livestock."

Corinne lost all patience. "Sandy can watch him. And what if China does die! Even that's not as important as your impressing De Valdero!"

"De Valdero should be impressed by how a man does his own work. If he isn't—then it isn't important to impress him."

Corinne forgot everything and everyone then in her fury. Her voice rose in a scream of anger.

"Brooks Kimberly, are you coming?"

Brooks turned and looked at her, his face expressionless. Terry waited, fascinated, for his decision. But she was not to know it. At that instant Sandy's voice cut into the tense silence.

"This is it! It's the turnin' point."

Brooks gaze was back on China. Even Terry was too excited to watch Corinne's reaction. Vaguely she heard the door slam as the girl went out.

Cigarettes Bought Outside Ohio Taxed Two Cents

COLUMBUS, June 7—(P)—Cigaret smokers who buy their smokes from out-of-state sources are depriving Ohio's treasury of several thousand dollars a year, the Department of Taxation reported today.

Ritter Dinkewalter, chief of the department's cigarette tax division, said the state collects an average of $23,000 a day from its two-cent-a-package tax.

The tax brought $3,489,332 in the first five months of this year against $4,364,905 in the corresponding period of last year.

Cigarets bought outside Ohio are subject to a state use tax of two cents a package.

A recent drive in Cleveland to collect the use tax on imported cigarettes netted $2,000 in two months, Dinkewalter said, adding that the campaign was being extended to other localities.

June Church Day Held Wednesday At Grace Church

June Church Day was observed by the Women's Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist Church on Wednesday, beginning at eleven o'clock when Miss Marian Christopher, church organist, played several hymns as the opening number for the morning session.

Mrs. Anetta Rowe gave devotionals appropriate to the day's subject, "Juvenile Protection." After the regular business meeting, a covered dish luncheon was served in the church dining room with Mrs. John Stark's circle members as hostesses.

The afternoon program was interesting and entertaining as well for young Helen Louise Hynes favored the group with two beautiful piano selections. Mrs. Mable Blessing read from material used throughout the year, the message especially written for this month on the topic "Juvenile Protection." In this article the many reasons, so well known to all, for juvenile delinquency and also a remedy for a great part of this condition namely the part the church can play in correcting much of the trouble, was discussed.

A short skit was presented by Mrs. Clifford Galliett, who took the part of the mother of a teenage youth who had strayed a little too far from the church and church school. Miss Marian Christopher was the minister's wife to whom the mother had turned for help and guidance. This playlet proved that unless the parents were interested in the church and church school little could be expected of the child in the way of church attendance, vital to the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Mrs. Blessing then read from material prepared by Miss Beulah Elliott which traced the history of the Sabina Camp Grounds from the year 1877 at which time it was founded, up to the present time. Mrs. Blessing then interviewed Bobby Giddings about his stay at the campgrounds which was most interesting for he gave a child's impression of this school. Mrs. Ellis Bishop also gave her account of a visit to the Sabina grounds, over a period of years which gave the adult point of view.

Before the program was closed, Hal Summers sang a vocal solo, "I Heard the Forest Praying," accompanied by Mrs. W. S. Paxson. They sang the familiar hymn "When He Calls" with Mrs. B. E. Kelley at the piano and this concluded the all-day meeting and program.

Little Sisters Picnic At Cherry Hill School

Twenty-one members of the Little Sisters Club, of the Blue Bird organization met at the Teen-Age Club on Tuesday afternoon before going to the Cherry Hill schoolgrounds where a picnic supper was served after an informal afternoon of games and using the playground equipment.

In addition to their leader, June Wyatt, others present with the group included June Price, Mrs. Darrell Thornton, Mrs. Frank Dunn, Martha Wyatt and Barbara Lou Melvin.

The supper was served around four-thirty o'clock and the happy youngsters greatly enjoyed the bountiful meal of appropriate foods.

They adjourned to the Teen-Age Club from where they were dismissed.

It was reported that 108 pieces of mail had been sent during the month shut-ins and service men.

Announcement was made of the flower mission program at the Children's Home on Sunday at 2:30 P. M., and also that a county institute would be held at Grace Church next Wednesday with a covered dish dinner to which the public is invited.

Mrs. Laura Voss had charge of the program which consisted of a number of very interesting readings and a piano solo by Laverne Tway.

The meeting was closed by the circle of prayer.

Guild Groups Combine at Meet Wednesday Eve

The Westminster Guild of the First Presbyterian Church held a joint meeting of the afternoon and evening groups at the church Wednesday evening. The various groups assembled at 7:30 and conducted their separate meetings. All assembled in the church auditorium at 8:15 o'clock for business meeting and program.

The meeting was opened with a piano number by Mrs. Herbert Clickner. The president, Mrs. C. S. Kelly, read from the scriptures and a hymn was sung, "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

The secretary, Miss May Duffee then read the minutes of the last meeting and a letter from the Board of National Missions in regards to missionary boxes to be sent. The treasurer, Mrs. Forest Tipton gave her report. Mrs. C. O. Dewey, of the visiting committee reported 81 calls made and 15 cards sent. Sixty-four members reported present at the session.

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. W. C. Allen. During her opening theme "Tomorrow's World," she said in part, "Each has a definite part to play in 'peace'. We must show we are on the side of justice and brotherhood." She read from the scriptures and offered prayer, closing with the "Pledge to Peace" by Bishop Oldham.

Mrs. C. D. Young had charge of the program. The first number was two lovely solos given by Janice Murray with Mary Elizabeth Browning at the piano.

It was announced that the speaker for the July meeting would be Dr. Good, returned missionary from Africa.

Due to unforeseen circumstances the "Stewardship Play" that was to have been given was postponed to a future date and "Information Please" was substituted for the evening's entertainment. It consisted of questions of a religious nature asked by Rev. Abernethy and answered or not answered by members picked from the various groups or by the audience. Seated on the platform with Rev. Abernethy were Mrs. Clark Pensyl, Miss Emma Jackson, Miss Miriam Perdue, Mrs. M. L. Clark, Mrs. Ray Farley, Miss Anna Passmore, Mrs. A. H. Finley. It was amusing as well an instructive.

Members of group 3, with Mrs. Charles Reinke, chairman, served tea and delicious confections in the dining room from a table covered with lace cloth and centered with a large bowl of delicate colored peonies.

Mrs. Hazel Smathers and grandson, Ronnie Coffman spent Thursday in Columbus. Mrs. Dwight Coffman joined them at noon for the remainder of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McLean and son, Bruce had as overnight guests Tuesday, Mr. McLean's cousins, Rev. and Mrs. Brainerd Jamison, formerly of LeClaire, Iowa, Rev. and Mrs. Jamison are on their way to the east coast. They expect to sail from there in August for Egypt where they will be Presbyterian missionaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Speakman and daughter Carolyn Jean, returned Wednesday evening from Findlay where they spent Tuesday and Wednesday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reamsnyder and other relatives.

Flowergirl at Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wilson were in London Tuesday evening, when their four year old daughter, Judy, performed the duties of flower girl for Mary Ellen Sheets at her marriage to Dr. Neil Rogers, Lt. in the U. S. Army, both of London, at the Methodist Church. Little Judy was a picture in a floor length yellow organza dress, trimmed in white velvet ribbon with a white velvet garland cluster of yellow roses on her hair, and carried a basket of yellow and white daisies.

About 60 per cent of the cargo leaving the United States in 1944 was for the armed services.

Loyal Daughters' Meeting Held at Warnecke Home

The Loyal Daughters Class of the McNair Church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. John Warnecke Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Forrest Dawson serving as co-hostess.

The Warnecke home was decorated with exceptionally lovely vases of various kinds of spring flowers.

Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Warnecke, and Mrs. William Malone was in charge of the bible study.

Mrs. Russell Miller, president, conducted the business meeting, and it was decided that the class donate to the missionary box.

At the close of the evening the fourteen members present, and one guest, Miss Grace Humphrey, were seated at small tables where the hostesses served appetizing refreshments.

17 Alpha Circle Members Attend Wednesday Meet

Mrs. D. O. Scholl opened her home, 824 Clinton Avenue, to seventeen Alpha Circle (C. C. L.) members who assembled there on Wednesday evening for the regular business meeting and discussion program.

Mrs. Frank Hook was the assisting hostess with Mrs. Scholl during the course of the evening's many pleasures.

Mrs. Frank Brown, president, called for the secretary to give the roll call when the members answered the question "do you always tell the truth?"

During the course of the business hour, Mrs. Brown lead the group in voting to ask a representative from the Cancer Clinic at Columbus to speak to the group here during the coming year.

Mrs. Robert Helfrich, banquet chairman, made the announcement the banquet date has been set for June 20 at the Country Club.

Mrs. Arch Newbrey then read a humorous poem entitled "Two Committeemen." Mrs. W. W. Humphries had the program topic for the evening which was "Living Religion." An interesting discussion period concluded the program.

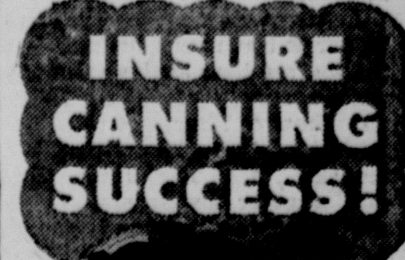

Before the hostess and her assistant served a tempting salad course, young Audrey Jean Scholl, daughter of the hostess, favored the members with several piano solos which were enjoyable. Informal visiting was prolonged until late in the evening when they adjourned to their homes.

Mrs. Don Gerber Is Guest When Bridge Club Met

An evening of unusual delights was hostessed by Mrs. Harry Ferguson when she assembled three tables of her Wednesday night bridge club members at Maddux's

Restaurant for a delicious two-course dinner before inviting them to her home on Briar Avenue where the remainder of the evening was devoted to playing bridge.

Included with the members as a guest was Mrs. Don Gerber. During the course of the evening of bridge, informal chatting among the members was enjoyed and also at the conclusion of the bridge games. When the scores were tallied, Mrs. Ferguson presented prizes to Miss Clara Story and to the guest, Mrs. Gerber.

STRAW TOPPER SUPPLY LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

There Are Enough To Go
Around in Stores Now; Cold
Weather Nips Buying

There are plenty of straw hats in Washington C. H. haberdashery and men's stores—plenty, that is, considering that there aren't quite as many men around as before the war to sell them.

Actually, there are just about 75 percent as many straw hats on the shelves here as there were last year, a survey of downtown section showed Thursday.

Most of those hats still are on the shelf, too. The unseasonably cold weather has frozen any desire to wear straw hats. Usually by this time of year, the "cream of the crop" has been sold, merchants agreed.

Sailor and coconut straw hats are scarce, but there are enough of the other types to go around, it was said.

The reason for the curtailment in straw hat production was attributed by Warren S. Smith, secretary of the hat institute, to the lack of oriental braid used for hard straws.

Supplies normally come from China, Java, the Philippines and Japan, where the braids are made by cheap labor. Backlog inventories are almost gone and the braids cannot be duplicated in the United States for the same cost because of wage rates.

Synthetic straws made from rayon and cotton might help out, but they could not be produced in quantities large enough to affect the shortage, Smith said.

Manufacturers have prorated the straw hats they had this season to retailers, one merchant explained it. The quality is the same and the cost slightly higher, but they are there—now. One good hat will make a lot of difference in the number of straw hats on sale in the stores.

DOLLAR STABILITY IS ECONOMY GUIDE

Bankers Association Head
Backs Bretton Woods

CLEVELAND, June 7.—(AP)—World economic recovery depends largely on the soundness of the American dollar, says W. Randolph Burgess, president of the American Bankers Association.

The vice chairman of the National City Bank of New York told the American institute of banking's executive council yesterday the U. S. would be able to lend to other countries money necessary to restore their economic systems.

Endorsing the proposed Bretton Woods international monetary agreement generally, Burgess said American money could not cure the world's diseases but it could help.

Every Liberty ship has its own distillation system to make sea water drinkable.

CANNING SUGAR SITUATION HERE REMAINS VAGUE

Program Is Expected To Be Worked Out Next Week on Emergency Basis

There is a lot of uncertainty about getting sugar for home canning as the canning season approaches, and there is no use wasting time asking the county's Ration Board about it because right now they know about as little about the situation as anyone else.

Two reasons have been given for the shortage that resulted in a temporary halt on rationing it—a short crop in Cuba and abuse of rationing leniency last year.

It was said at the Ration Board here that this year, to date, applications for canning sugar have tripled those for the same period last year. Many came in after the OPA clamped down.

There is a general impression—one in which the OPA at least implies agreement—that last year much of the sugar bought for canning never went for that purpose.

Whether the applications were deliberately falsified or whether the applicants just never got around to doing as much canning as they planned remains a matter of speculation. The OPA has let it be known that there are penalties for making false statements in applying for rationed commodities.

Without specifically stating any connections, it has been said at the Ration Board here that applications for canning sugar increased when the regular rations were cut.

A parallel situation developed when point values of other foods went up—there was an increase in the number of reports of lost ration books.

The chairman of the county's Ration Board has been in conference with district OPA officials in Columbus this week on the canning sugar situation, it has been learned, but the results or what plans, if any, were made, remain undisclosed.

One thing seems certain—that home canning sugar will be issued on an emergency basis for the remainder of the canning season. Some definite announcement is expected by the board here next week, although there is no assurance that it will come that soon.

The 12 OPA district chiefs in this five-state area have been conferring with chairmen of local boards this week, it has been disclosed, and a meeting of these twelve men is scheduled for Cleveland next Monday. It is understood that a definite canning sugar program will be worked out at this meeting, but rationing officials here have no inkling of what it will be.

WAVES NOW FLYING ON MILITARY CREWS

80 Officers Wear Regular Navigator's Wings

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(P)—Eighty WAVE officers designated as naval air navigators are the first women in American history eligible to serve in military flight crews.

Subjected to the same rigorous training given men selected for similar assignments, the WAVES will wear regulation Navy navigator wings.

While trained primarily to replace male navigators assigned to sea duty, the women officers already have proved their versatility in every phase of air navigation, the Navy said, and are functioning now as navigational instructors.

They also will serve as trans-ocean navigators in theaters where WAVES may be assigned to duty. This will permit them to join crews flying to such points as Hawaii and the Aleutians.

The WAVE navigators were trained at schools in Hollywood, Fla., and Shawnee, Okla.

The riflebird is an Australian bird of Paradise, about the size of a large pigeon.

Out of the Past

State, City and County Get Names

(Editor's Note: There is a rich store of comedy and drama secure in the history of Fayette County. Frank DeWitt, who has lived here nearly four score years and knows possibly as many of the older generations as anyone else, has agreed to tell some of the absorbing stories of the past for Record-Herald readers. They will appear from time to time.)

By FRANK DEWITT
When Ohio was first admitted to the Union, the Secretary of State, William Creighton, used his private seal for state papers. One night in the early part of 1830, Creighton with other men of affairs, met at the Worthington home near Chillicothe to discuss matters pertaining to the development of the state.

Among the subjects discussed in the all-night session was the question of a state seal. In the morning, before separating, they lingered on the south lawn of the home just as the sun rose behind Mt. Logan. It was a magnificent scene and Creighton, inspired by its beauty, remarked: "The rising sun of a New State." This was the birth of our great seal. The arrow and sheaf were after-thoughts.

Legend Of A Name
In a similar session, earlier than the above, the men discussed, far into the night, a suitable name for the territory. They decided that the first word spoken the next morning by any member of the group would be the name of the territory. The first man on arising stretched his arms above his head threw out his chest, opened wide his mouth and said: "Hence the name Ohio. But that omitted 'hum,' being a part of that O-hi-o-hum, asserted its right to that name by forming and developing a state that is known and revered today, wherever civilization is known.

Seal Is Symbolic
Ohio was the seventeenth state admitted into the Union. This is illustrated by a bundle of seventeen arrows; a sheaf of wheat, the symbol of agriculture, one of the states important industries. The rising sun refers to the state's rapid rise in power, wealth and influence. The mountains allude to the fact this was the first state to be carved out of "Black Wilderness" west of the Alleghenies. The river refers to the beautiful Ohio. The state flower of Ohio is the scarlet carnation, and the people collectively are called Buckeyes.

So A Town Gets A Name
It has always been a question why our village received the name of Washington. We can understand that C. H. stood for Court House, in honor of the very few erected within the territory; but, there being so many other Washingtons, the Court House was added as a distinguishing name—an old Virginia custom.

And how proud you are of the name! Did you ever notice when you are away from home, and someone inquires where you are from, how proudly you say: "Washington C. H." It has a ring of colonial times, aristocracy and justice of which one is justly proud.

George Washington—The Father of our Country—Marquis de LaFayette, that French patriot, who so nobly fought for American liberty by the side of Washington are forever honored in the name of our town and county.

Tale Of County's Pigs
They are sometimes jokingly called "Little Bristle," and thereby hangs a tale—a tale of pigs. The following is the story: Its territory was once a part of Ross County and it was sliced off to form Fayette. Now in those early days of Ohio, it was a common thing for the settlers to permit their hogs to run at large to feed upon the nuts and acorns that were

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. so plentiful in the forests.

In time many of them became wild and the ownership in such ceased. These multiplied and it became so that when a settler wanted some pork, he would take down his gun and whistle up his dog, and start for the brush to give chase to the wild hogs. Having found one, his dog would chase it down, the settler would shoot it, and pack it home to replenish his larder.

These hogs were long legged, with thin bodies like a sunfish, and had bristles along their backs that stood up when the hogs were aroused like quills on the back of a porcupine. The hunting of the wild hog continued so long in the hills of Ross County that it became known as Big Bristle, and when Fayette County was detached it immediately took the name of Little Bristle, and afterward aptly applied to the county seat.

In the early history of Ohio, there are three high points to remember. (1) The naming of the state from the territory and don't forget the "hum." (2) The naming of the county seat with its C. H. as a symbol of fair dealing and justice. (3) "Little Bristle" the appropriate sobriquet of Washington C. H. because it was and is always bristling with business and progress.

Little Bristle should be on the seal of all legal documents pertaining to the business of the town and county. At the entrance into town under the name of signs designating the name of the town. On all letter heads and envelopes. In all activities of our county and town it should be signally honored by a name that is so appropriate to our community: "Little Bristle."

Riddles were known to the ancient Egyptians.

BUYS GLIDERS FROM U. S. ARMY FOR AFTER WAR

Lt. Vernon Atkins Already Owns Half Dozen of the Motorless Planes

At least one Fayette County service man is making definite plans for after the war, and has chosen the glider field, with the result that his first two gliders, shipped from Fort Worth, Texas, reached this city over the B. & O. Railroad Wednesday morning, and were removed to Selden for storage until the owner is discharged from service.

Lt. Vernon Atkins, son of Mrs. Earl Atkins, of Selden, is the glider owner, and already has six gliders which will be stored in a large store room owned by his mother at Selden, until he is ready to give them attention after the war.

At the present time Atkins is in New York City and is in the U. S. Ferry Command, piloting planes from New York to California. His route takes him over this city, and he frequently dips down over his home while enroute.

Lt. Atkins sees a big future ahead for gliders, and intends to devote his attention to gliders, making them, repairing them, and flying them, it is stated by relative who also say that he is an enthusiastic glider fan, and flies them frequently.

At the present time he is completing one of his own building in New York, expects to fly it soon.

The two gliders reaching here in a huge box car Wednesday morning, were unloaded by Lieut. Atkins brother and a neighbor boy, placed them upon trailers which come with each glider, attached it to an automobile to the trailer, and pulled the gliders to their storage place at Selden.

Four additional gliders he has purchased from the U.S. government will be shipped here for storage, as well as the one he is completing in New York, it is indicated.

Whether he will enter the glider business here or in California, is still problematical.

Four of the gliders are two-seaters and the others carry one passenger.

Draft Calls Threaten Upset In American League Race

By JACK HAND
By the Associated Press

Draft board calls threaten to cripple the New York Yankees today as Cleveland and the St. Louis Browns regain key men and the Boston Red Sox begin to act like pennant contenders.

Center fielder Johnny Lindell and second baseman George Stinner, two of the leading Yankees today, are to take pre-induction physicals today along with pitcher Bill Zuber in New York City.

Loss of either Lindell or Stinner would throw the American League race into a wide open scramble and could make the Yankees a third or fourth place club.

News that third baseman Mark Christman was to rejoin the champion Browns on a full time basis and the signing by Cleveland of outfielder Jeff Heath served to boost the chances of both clubs.

Boston is the real surprise of the month, moving into a virtual three-way tie for third place only three and one-half games behind New York on the strength of pitcher Dave Ferriss.

When the Army Air Force discharge joined the Red Sox, the club had just won its first game after losing its first eight starts. Manager Joe Cronin had broken his leg at the Yankee Stadium a few days earlier and the Hub fortunes were at low ebb with the Sox floundering in the basement.

After a doubleheader triumph over Philadelphia yesterday in which Ferriss hung up his eighth successive triumph, Boston was finally above the .500 mark with a 21-20 record only two and one percentage points behind the Browns and White Sox, respectively.

Ferriss was not at his best against the A's, yielding 14 hits but he left 14 runners stranded in copping number eight by a 3-2 margin. The nightcap was copped by Boston, 3-2.

Dutch Leonard stopped the Yankees cold with four singles and drove home two scores with a perfect three-for-three night at bat to win 4-0 in a night game at Washington.

Detroit picked up a full game on New York to trail by one and one-half as Stubby Overmire won his fourth straight in trimming Cleveland, 8-1.

Orval Grove shut the door on the St. Louis Browns, 4-0, although the Chicago Sox got only six hits off Sig Jakucki and Weldon West.

Pittsburgh slipped back a half game in its chase of the New York Giants and now is tied with St. Louis, three and one-half lengths behind the leaders after bowing to Cincinnati's Bucky Walters, 3-0.

Boston clubbed the futile Phillies twice, 15-1, behind Mort Cooper, and 7-3 to give Johnny Huchings his first decision of the year.

New York and Brooklyn were not scheduled and the Chicago-St. Louis night game was postponed.

Argument Rages Over Open Season On Ducks in Ohio

COLUMBUS, June 7.—(AP)—Everybody but the ducks themselves, it appears, will speak a piece June 14 on whether Ohio should be northern or intermediate in its duck hunting season.

The State Conservation Commission's annual game hearing is to be the arena for resuming the fight by central and southern Ohio sportsmen to change the state from its northern zone classification to the month-later intermediate zone.

And the shooters who take their geese, brants, coots and such from Lake Erie's marshes will be on hand to keep it there.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service determines the zone a state shall be in; the zone determines the date of open season. Last year the season ran from September 20 to December 8 in Ohio. It would have been October 14 to January 1 if the state had been in the intermediate zone.

Central and southern duck hunters contend the season is over before the migrating ducks arrive. Ohio State University surveys, in fact, showed the peak duck population arrived in southern counties for the past three years three days after duck-shooting became illegal.

Bucky's Bat And Pitching Bring Win

PITTSBURGH, June 7.—(AP)—Looks like the Cincinnati Reds are on their way back to the first division.

At the season's outset, the Reds, who have never finished in the lower half of National League standings since Manager Bill McKechnie's arrival in 1938, seemed doomed for a spot near the traditional hangout of the Philadelphia Phillies—which, in case you don't read statistics, is known as the cellar.

However, of late the Cincinnati hitters have been hittin' and the pitchers have been pitchin' and in hittin'. They've won ten of the last eleven games.

Last night against the Pirates one of the Red pitchers did some hittin' and some pitchin'. In addition to allowing only six hits, Bucky Walters slammed a home-run in the eighth and then batted in another run in the ninth as his team won 3-0.

Before 13,277 fans, Walters and Preacher Roe battled at even terms for seven innings and each allowing six hits. Then Walters hit one out of the park. In the final inning, pitcher Ken Gables went in after a pinch hitter replaced Roe in the eighth, and was charged with the other two tallies.

Cincinnati loaded the bases with none out and Eddie Miller sent a fly to center scoring Frank McCormick from third. With the bases again filled Walter lined to center scoring Steve Mesner.

Th Reds and Pirates play their last of four games here today as Frank Dasso seeks his fourth victory with Rip Sewell on the mound for Pittsburgh.

DANIELS SCHOOL BILL PASSED BY LEGISLATURE; TAX BATTLE LOOMS

000,000 in sales taxes collected by the state last year.

Legislative leaders predicted the revised bill would encounter rough going on its return to the House and expressed belief it would be sent to a conference committee composed of members of both Houses. It probably will emerge and be accepted by both chambers with a distribution figure approaching the $16,000,000 recommended by the governor, they said.

Unemployment Benefits

The vote followed a 2 1/2 hour caucus by Senate Republicans during which majority leader, Frank E. Whittemore (R, Summit) said it was decided to postpone action until next week on a bill by Sen. Fred G. Reiners (R, Hamilton) to increase unemployment compensation benefits from $16 weekly for 18 weeks, to $20 for 20 weeks.

J. C. Clayman, Ohio CIO attorney, said that when the measure came to a vote, amendments would be offered calling for $21 weekly for 24 weeks in maximum benefits and an increase in the minimum from $5 to $8 a week.

Whittemore in a prepared statement asserted the proposed increase would advance maximum benefits 40 percent, although living costs have gained only 24 percent since Pearl Harbor, according to government statistics.

"The benefit formula in Senate Bill No. 163 is designed to preserve some incentive to people to seek and find employment," he said.

"A single person who earns $30 per week has $23.50 after paying federal income and social security taxes. The proposal to pay him a $20 benefit when he can get only $23.50 by working would encourage intentional unemployment."

"We note the unfortunate experience of the Navy Department in not being able to get workers for the repair of war ships on the west coast and in the state of Washington, where thousands have been laid off from the shipyards and are drawing unemployment compensation."

FULL FIELD IN PROSPECT FOR GOVERNOR'S HANDICAP

(Special to the Record-Herald)
COLUMBUS, June 7.—Central Ohio racing fans have drawn a circle around June 16 on their calendars. They don't want to miss the seventh running of the $2500 Governor's Handicap, Beulah Park's getaway day feature on that date.

The Governor's Handicap is for three-year-olds and up over the route of one and one-sixteenth miles. Francesco, with Jack Long won the first running of the event May 20, 1939 and his time of 1:44 3-5 still stands as the track record for that distance.

Other winners of the Governor's have been: 1940—High Fidelity, 1941—Mucho Gusto, 1942 and 1943—Best Seller and 1944 Slickety.

As it always has in the past, this year's renewal of the handicap will draw a select field that is likely to include Total Victory, second to Slide Rule in a race at Churchill Downs when a two-year old; Sangabi, winner of the Inaugural Handicap; Stingy Lady, a frequent winner in Ohio last year; Brown Gown, handicap performer from Al Smith's stable; Ralph Koonce's Ecoway and Spectator, the latter holding the six-furlong track record of 1:11 1-5 at Beulah; Allan Long's Sherlock, a tried and true router; I Love Bridge, impressive winner of her only start this year; N. E. Shop's Ina Lady, a fast and game sort that is certain to make her presence known if she goes post-ward, and the stretch-running Time Up.

Late Starters in Softball Swamped in First Games

Two teams making their season's debut in the city's twilight softball leagues went down to defeat at Wilson's Field Wednesday night.

The 49 to 3 beating in five innings Korn's Insurance Agency juniors handed Moore's Auto boys in their first league game broke all recallable records.

Korn's boys poured it on unmercifully in the first two frames, scoring 14 runs in each. After that they eased up and cut their scoring in half, but still they romped around the baselines like they were at a track meet. Three changes of pitchers failed

Filly To Run In Kentucky Derby June 9

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 7.—(AP)—Hope springs eternal in the breast of a proud owner of a thoroughbred filly.

Arthur Rose of Mt. Clemens, Mich., is no exception.

Rose, secretary of the Michigan Racing Commission, is the proud owner of Misweet, least talked about nominee of the 71st Kentucky Derby Saturday. She's going to run come rain, mud or a fast track.

Even the blazing workout of Hoop, Jr., one of the favorites, yesterday failed to frighten Rose or his trainer, Lee O'Donnell. Hoop, Jr., one of a trio of eastern threats, carrying the Derby weight of 126 pounds, thundered around the Churchill Downs track to hit the mile post in 1:38 3-5 and sped on for another eighth to finish in 1:51 3-5, fastest time since Johnstown turned in a pre-Derby mile in 1939.

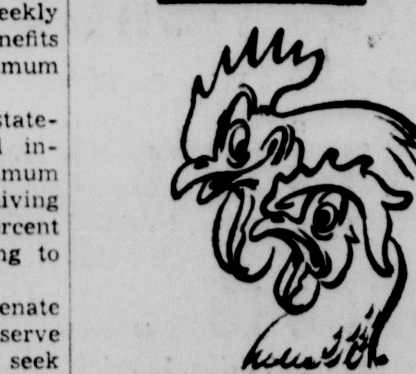

Blistering trials, Rose and O'Donnell argue, do not always win the race.

Seventy times the Kentucky Derby has been decided and only once has a filly's nose come down in front—Regret 30 years ago. Forty-five other fillies vainly have attempted to triumph through the long years. It has been nine years since a filly even started. Gold Seeker tried it in 1936 and finished ninth in a field of 14.

Misweet, purchased for only $1,650, and winner of nearly $9,000 in her first year of racing, has started 19 times and never has been worse than fourth. She triumphed twice, finished third three times and holds the distinction of having soundly defeated Darby Dieppe, winner of the Blue Grass Stake, last Saturday, as a juvenile last year.

With the arrival of Col. C. V. Whitney's Jeep, winner of the first division of the Woods Memorial at Jamaica last Saturday, in company with Andrew Wright's Jacob, the field was complete for Saturday's race—seventeen probable starters and at least 14 apparently certain. Jeep probably will shake his legs in a trial spin today.

Heard about the Pan-a-min Plan?

The Pan-a-min Plan calls for good hens, good feed and care, and Pan-a-min. Its goal is more efficient egg production.

Pan-a-min is the key in this plan because it supplies tools that help the bird make better use of feed and supplies minerals essential in egg production. Pan-a-min Plan birds on the Research Farm lay as many as 23 more eggs per bird per year.

We believe the Pan-a-min Plan can help you step up the egg efficiency of your hens. We can supply the Pan-a-min.

WAR CRIMINAL TRIALS POLICY OR U. S. OUTLINED BY PROSECUTOR JACKSON

sumption that an "inescapable responsibility rests upon this country to conduct an inquiry, preferably in association with others, but alone if necessary, into the culpability of those whom there is probable cause to accuse of atrocities and other crimes."

It has cost "unmeasured thousands of American lives to beat and bind these men," Jackson declared but their trials should be "as dispassionate as the times and horrors we deal with permit."

Jackson pointed out that his own responsibilities extend only to major criminals whose offenses have no particular geographical localization and who will be punished by joint decision of the Allied governments as provided in the Moscow declaration of November 1, 1943. In his visit to the European theater, he said, he attempted to establish standards and the cases fell into three general categories:

1. Offenses against military personnel of the United States, such as the killing of American airmen who crash-landed and other Americans who became prisoners of war. He said that field forces from time immemorial had dealt with such offenses on the spot.

Authorization of such action was withdrawn for a time through fear of stimulating retaliation, he said, but "the surrender of Germany and liberation of our prisoners has ended that danger." Accordingly, Jackson suggested, the morale and safety of American troops and effective control of enemy areas requires prompt resumption "of summary dealing with this type of case."

2. Offenders who are to be sent back to the scene of their crimes for trial by local authorities. The United States' part in these cases, Jackson said, is concerned largely with identification of the culprits and their release to those who are in control.

3. The "Quintings, Lavals and Lord Haw Haws." Jackson said each country "is free to prosecute treason charges in its own tribunals and under its own laws against its own traitorous nationals."

Such classification of these groups, he said, will permit their prosecution without delay while preparations for the trial of major criminals are completed.

While Soviet Russia is not yet committed, he went on, it has been kept informed of all steps, "and there is no reason to doubt that it will unite in the prosecution."

As to when the trials of major criminals can start, he said it would be "foolhardy" to name dates which depend upon other governments and many agencies.

RED BIRDS BREAK EVEN

By the Associated Press

American Association teams—kicked around for weeks by bad weather which piled up 59 postponed games since opening—went all-out last night and played a full schedule of double-headers in the "eastern" backwoods of the circuit.

When the night's firing had ceased, Indianapolis, twice victors over St. Paul, 3-2 and 5-4, had boosted its first place percentage to .634 (26-15). Louisville's twin win over Minneapolis, 7-5 and 10-9, ousted defending champion Milwaukee from second place. The Colonels' triumphs gave them a .600 (24-16) rating in the pennant scramble.

At Columbus the Brewers had to be satisfied with a split with the Red Birds, winning the nightcap, 7-4, after being shut out, 4-0, in the first game.

According to Hindu legends, sugar cane was created when a Rajah, who wished to experience the joys of heaven while still on earth, commanded his chief magician to build an earthly paradise.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, June 7.—(AP)—Wheat was mixed and most other grains were steady to firm in quiet futures markets today.

Wheat slipped more than a cent at times under hedge selling and there was some liquidation of rye following a sharp break in prices at Winnipeg. Variations in corn prices were small. Fairly large amounts for delivery in September were sold at $1.18 by one of the large commission houses.

In the cash market corn was strong. Handlers reported only 25,000 bushels bought for deferred delivery.

At the finish wheat was 1/2¢ higher to 1/4¢ lower than yesterday's close, July $1.67-1/4¢. Corn was unchanged to up 1/4¢, July $1.18 1/2¢. Oats were 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ higher, July 64 1/2¢. Rye was off 1/4¢ to 1/2¢, July $1.42-1/2¢. Barley was unchanged to 1/4¢ higher, July $1.11 1/2¢.

HOFF'S MARKETERS WIN

The senior circuit game between Hoff's Marketers and the Company D Guardsmen, making their first start, was a free scoring affair, but the runs were a bit more evenly divided although the Hoff outfit had a comfortable 19 to 10 margin at the end.

Errors afield played an important part in the results as evidenced by the 19 runs the Hoff team made on 20 hits and the 10 made by the Guardsmen on 10 safeties.

The game was a nip and tuck affair until the last inning when the Hoff boys sewed it up with a flurry of six runs.
